

There should not be charges for both out going and incoming calls on mobile phones. These charges are not charged on land lines. Now that the numbers can be changed should not the billing be standardized?